Presenting Author(s) Name. The presenting authors are required to register and attend the conference. Only authors may make the presentation.

I confirm that a paper of this abstract has not been published prior to June 10, 2023. I understand that it is acceptable if this abstract has been presented at another conference or that the paper is under review in a journal. Yes or No?

Title of abstract submission. Please limit title to no more than 25 words.

Which topic category best fits your abstract submission? Pick ONE of the following basic science, clinical, education, public health, case studies

Which type of study design best fits your abstract submission? Pick ONE of the following: Systematic literature review, meta-analysis, Randomized controlled trial, parallel, or cross-over, Cohort, Case-control, Cross sectional, Case report/series, Narrative literature review, Qualitative, Animal, cadaver, laboratory study (no human subjects), Descriptive, nonexperimental (with human subjects)

Paste your 250 word maximum abstract. Headings for Clinical/Basic Science, Education, Public Health/Health Services/Epidemiology: Objectives, Methods, Results, Conclusion. Headings for Clinical Case study/series: Objective, Clinical features, Interventions/outcomes, Conclusion.

Paper Award Competition. If your abstract is accepted for platform or poster presentation, do you want to further develop your paper so that you may participate in the paper award competition? Your full paper does not need to be ready at this time and the competition is not mandatory (it is optional). Please select one choice below so we will know if we should invite you to the award competition should your abstract be accepted. Yes or No?

Ethics. Please provide the document for ethics review and approval/exemption of your study. Upload this as a separate file.

Terms & Conditions:

1. As authors, we understand that submitting an abstract is a commitment to present if accepted. At least one author of the accepted submission will register no later than the due date. We understand that withdrawing after acceptance will remove the abstract from the proceedings. There are no refunds for registration fees.
2. As authors, we confirm that each of us is qualified as an author of this presentation according to ICMJE www.icmje.org criteria; each has been active in the actual project, research and/or analysis of the data. Each author is capable of defending all contents. We declare that all authors listed in this form satisfy the 4 ICMJE authorship criteria (as stated on www.icmje.org) and that no people deserving to be authors have been omitted.
3. As authors, we have listed all relevant conflicts of interest.
4. As authors, we understand that presentations may not be used to market products or services. All presentations are to be done in a non-commercial and non-self-promotional manner.

Please declare if you accept all the terms and conditions for submitting abstracts

5. For accepted abstracts we give permission for: 1) presentation by the presenting author; 2) publication of the abstract in the conference proceedings.
  6. As authors, we give permission for the accepted abstract to be printed in a supplemental conference proceeding. This will still allow us to publish any full and completed paper in any journal we wish. We recognize that the Conference reserves the right to publish the abstract, video, or any details or data submitted for the purposes of the Conference either in electronic or printed format before, during and after the Conference.
  7. For any research that requires ethics review, if asked we will provide the proper documentation (IRB/REB/Ethics approval) since this is a requirement to present at the conference.
  8. As authors we understand that any submitted abstract that is suspected of involving scientific misconduct or ethics issues will be addressed using the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE) guidelines and may be subject to immediate rejection.
  9. We confirm that the submission has not been previously published elsewhere prior to the date listed above. Previous presentations with a published abstract in proceedings or abstracts concurrently submitted to other conferences or under review at journals are acceptable for submission.
- Note: it is our policy that communications about abstracts are only done with corresponding authors.
